Abstract

This document contains the instructions for preparing a camera-ready manuscript for the proceedings of ACL-2014. The document itself conforms to its own specifications, and is therefore an example of what your manuscript should look like. These instructions should be used for both papers submitted for review and for final versions of accepted papers. Authors are asked to conform to all the directions reported in this document.

1 Introduction

The following instructions are directed to authors of papers submitted to ACL-2014 or accepted for publication in its proceedings. All authors are required to adhere to these specifications. Authors are required to provide a Portable Document Format (PDF) version of their papers[2]. The proceedings are designed for printing on A4 paper.

2 System Overview

Manuscripts must be in two-column format. Exceptions to the two-column format include the title, authors' names and complete addresses, which must be centered at the top of the first page, and any full-width figures or tables. Type single-spaced. Start all pages directly under the top margin. See the guidelines later regarding formatting the first page. Do not number the pages. [1]

3 Approach

ACL 2014 innovates over earlier years in that we will attempt to automatically convert your  $\text{\LaTeX}$  source files to machine-readable XML with semantic markup. This will facilitate future research that uses the ACL proceedings themselves as a corpus.

4 Results

It is also advised to supplement non-English characters and terms with appropriate transliterations and/or translations since not all readers understand all such characters and terms. Inline transliteration or translation can be represented in the order of: original-form transliteration “translation”.

5 Discussion

Long papers may consist of up to 9 pages of content, plus two extra pages for references. Short papers may consist of up to 5 pages of content, plus two extra pages for references. Papers that do not conform to the specified length and formatting requirements may be rejected without review.

Acknowledgments

The acknowledgments should go immediately before the references. Do not number the acknowledgments section. Do not include this section when submitting your paper for review.
